Dancehall singer Livingstone Satekla interacted with students of Ashesi University yesterday on using Creative Arts as a tool for societal change.

He joins the likes of M.anifest and Jayso, who both spoke at the institute in April 2016. The influence that the creative industry holds on the Ghanaian society cannot be overemphasised as it is a major channel to affect culture, especially on a subconscious level.

Stonebwoy attempted to prove this, using his craft as reference.
